Crack of Pistol

Ends Peace Plans

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The crack of a murderer's pistol echoed through Chinatown again today, shattering all prospects of immediate peace among tong warriors.

The Chinese consul-general, with government officials from Washington, Oriental merchants from distant cities and local tong leaders had drawn up a 14-day armistice and were about to sign it.

The rapid succession of shots rattled the dusty windows of the little room they deliberated. Frankie Greening, alias Frankie Lee, a Hip Sing tongsman, swayed through a neighboring doorway, shrieked and died in the arms of a police detective. He had taken advantage of the rumored peace to venture into Doyer Street, stronghold of the On Leongs, to buy supplies for his chop suey house.

Who killed him and why has not been determined. His slayer escaped across rooftops.

Peace Parley in Progress. Peace negotiations were in progress at Hip Sing headquarters in Pell Street. Charlie King, chief of the On Leongs, had just presented to the negotiators his tone's demand for $50,000 indemnity and other concessions aimed at curbing the business activities of Hip Sing merchants in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Washington and New York.

One tongs leader of the Hip Sings had been killed at his terms but professed a willingness to arbitrate. The 14-day armistice had been agreed upon when the shots sent the arbitrators scampering to the "dugout" safety of the nearest basement laundress.

Authorities tonight were consulting the Chinese benevolent association, the Chinese merchants' association and the rival tong leaders about the prospects of ending hostilities in all the cities affected by calling in Judge Alfred Talley of the court of general sessions, to sit as arbitrator over the tongs' controversy. Judge Talley was reported to have consented to act.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRECOTT TO THE LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I have come to the conclusion, little Marquise, that heaven is a place where everybody understands. I said this to mother yesterday when she had come to me in great trouble because she had tried to break down the reserve with which Alice was treating all of us, and could not do it.

Dear, dear mother! I could not help contrasting her with John's mother, who is the least understanding and the most selfish old woman I have ever known. More than ever since my father's death mother has seemed to get at the heart of everything—except of her daughter Alice. She makes me feel that if I could be like her, there would be no more unhappiness for me in all my married life.

She said to me yesterday: "Dear, all the sorrow and sin of the world is made up of misunderstandings, and the greatest misunderstanding of all is our misunderstanding of the value of work. It is one of the greatest comforts and consolation of the world."

This she said to me, little Marquise, when I had remonstrated with her for working so hard in the setting of her affairs and putting her house in order.

"Sometimes I have thought, Leslie," she said, "and her eyes took on the look of a seer, "that one reason we look upon work as a punishment instead of a panacea is because of that edict that came out of the Garden of Eden when the first man and woman were driven out: 'The sweat of your brow shall ye live.'"

"Work, my dear, is the greatest blessing in the world. I could not have lived these past few days if my hands and brain had not been so busy with things outside myself and my sorrow that I could not crowd it in to either my thoughts or my heart. I have come to know that this work is the greatest blessing in all the world."

Alice, who was in the room, spoke up: "I do not think you would make such a paean on work, mother, if you could see the children in the sweatshops and the poor little slaves in the poorest slums of London."

"When I say 'work,' Alice, I do not mean the work by which men, women and even little children are driven like slaves beyond their strength, for a mere pittance with which to keep body and soul together. If everyone, my dear, did his share of the world's work, no one would have to work such a crushing burden."

"Would you advise, mother, that Leslie and I should leave our homes and go out and work in the world of industry?" asked Alice somewhat sneeringly.

"No, my dear. You both have your work as wives and mothers cut out for you. But both of you must do something worth while if you are worthy of the name of woman. You must help your husbands and the children you bear to be something better than they would be without you."

Then mother repeated to Alice what she had told me that father had said to her a few days before he died. I could tell that it affected my sister very much. For the first time I saw a softness come into her face that I had not seen there since she returned from England some months before.

CHRISTMAS DOLLS FOR BIG GIRLS

HERE WE HAVE THE TELEPHONE AND BOUDOIR DOLLS WHO ARE TO ASSIST THIS YEAR IN SPREADING CHRISTMAS CHEER.

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS

NEA Service Writer

Dolls have always been the accepted Christmas gift for little girls, but this year they are just as much in demand for big girls.

Dolls are as much the rage as crossword puzzles and if you have the knack for dressing them in an original and snappy way, you can consider that your Christmas problem is solved.

They may be just dolls, or they may have some use in the world as well. A popular fad of the moment is the wide-eyed lady who fits over the rather ugly mechanism of the useful telephone and conceals it from view. This type of covering is particularly appropriate for the boudoir or bedroom.

It may be carried out in the color of the room or it may be a delectable-looking confection of blue or pink that would grace any dainty surroundings, regardless of color scheme.

MICHIGAN IS BEING SWEEPED BY BAD FIRE

Forest Conflagrations Destroying Much Timber—Farms Menaced

(By The Associated Press.)
DETROIT, Oct. 31.—Forest and brush fires were reported in four sections of Michigan today, one of them believed to be the largest so far this season. At Mesick, Mich., in the northwest part of the State, 200 men were fighting a blaze that had destroyed many acres of second growth timber. Fanned by a high wind last night there was a danger, it was feared, that the conflagration, spreading through the timber lands. A number of farms were in the path of the flames.

From Harbor Springs, north of Mesick, came a report of a forest fire in that vicinity. Arthur Herrick, a farmer living in Friendship township, telephoned that the blaze was menacing the buildings on his farm and asked for help. A force of men went from Harbor Springs, to fight the blaze.

Brush fires in Ogemaw county in the northeast part of the State, put under control several days ago, were reported to have broken out again.

In the upper peninsula a crew of men put under control a brush fire which burned over an area about a mile in circumference.

Bob Murray's View of Chest Effort

R. R. Murray, secretary of the Danville Community Chest, who has made a close study of the various elements of the chest plan, attributes the great success of the movement, particularly in cities of less than 100,000 primarily to the reduced cost of campaigning and administration. "The cost of securing the necessary $30,000 for the chest plan is very much less than the cost incurred by the organizations campaigning separately. Under the old plan the costs ranged from 11 to 30 percent with the average ranging around 15 percent. Under the chest plan, which is now in use in nearly 200 cities the average cost is between five and six percent."

"The community chest is more than a money saving device and more than a mere convenience for contributors. In substituting a single annual campaign with unified, year-round campaigning for the many uncoordinated campaigns that beset the average American city, it is a conservator of time, money and temper of contributors and insures subscribers that the funds will be efficiently handled. It makes it easier for all to give, guarantees the justice of the amounts asked, assures proper accounting and saves the time and energy of those who are called upon to help raise the community's welfare funds."

"It is interesting to note," he continued, "that more than 93 percent of the money subscribed to the Danville Community Chest last year had been collected among 99 percent of the budgets of the agencies paid to them. When one considers that there are still two months of the year left, I believe this constitutes a remarkable achievement on the part of the people of the city."

Hammered Boston Society; Rewarded

(By Universal Service.)
BOSTON, Oct. 30.—William R. (Billy) Castle, Jr., who wrote a book hammering Boston society high and low, when he was assistant dean of Harvard 12 years ago, has been left $50,000 in the will of Mrs. Susan Greene Dexter, who was one of the "grand dames" of Boston's inner circle.

Mrs. Dexter, great grand daughter of John Singleton Copley, the distinguished artist and portrait painter, and widow of Gordon Dexter, was one of Boston's society arbiters.

Raised a Furor.
"Billy Castle, Jr." is now connected with the State Department at Washington. In 1912 he raised a furor with his novel of love and society, "The Green Vase." The plot was set in Boston. One slap at society read:

"She was his guide among the devious windings of Boston Society. Had pointed out to him the intense in-breeding among the old families which no one dared break. Clear that caustic comment was always dangerous, since the listener was sure to be some kind of a cousin."

One of the characters in "The Green Vase" was Mrs. Amanda Jennings, president of the South Boston Thursday Morning Intellectual Improvement Society. Into the scornful mouth of Mrs. Jennings the author put the following dialogue:

"Why, you wouldn't believe it, Mrs. Murphy, the way we despise all these snobs and rich folks of the Back Bay. I guess they wouldn't feel so mighty important if they could hear us talk them down. Why, the way these women drink cocktails and champagne and run around with other people's husbands is something scandalous, and then to go and pay the papers to put it in. Why, it's a disgrace to America, I say."

REFUSES TO GIVE OUT INCOME TAX LEVIES

(By The Associated Press.)
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 30.—Carol F. Rutzahn, internal revenue collector here, will adhere for the present to his orders against giving out income tax levies, he announced today, notwithstanding the action of Federal Judge D. C. Westenhaver in overruling a petition of Attorney John W. Reavis against publication of his own income tax payments for 1923.

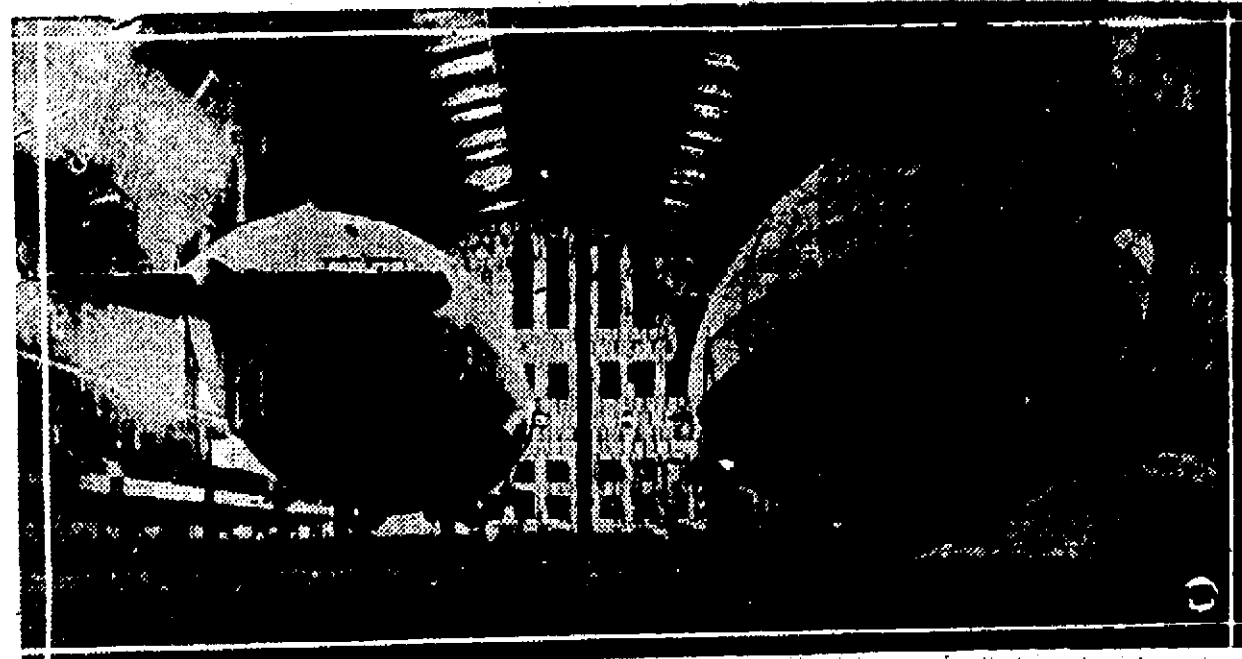

Within the two sections of the federal statutes in dispute, section 2, 157 providing criminal penalties for certain improper uses of income tax returns and section 257 providing for the preparation of tax lists and payments made each year.

"It is a grave question," Judge Westenhaver said, "whether the law passed in June, 1924, applies to the 1923 returns or whether to those returns the law, as it stood prior to January, 1924, is applicable."

If the latter is the case, the collector and other officers might be in grave danger of severe penalties if they gave out lists for publication."

The average age of clergymen in the Church of England is said to be 69.

ACTIVITIES OF LABOR IN BEHALF OF CANDIDATES TAKEN UP BY COMMITTEE

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The activities of the American Federation of Labor on behalf of Senator La Follette and the operation of the grand committee on its collection of republican funds in Pennsylvania were further inquired into today by the Washington section of the Senate campaign fund committee.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation of labor, testified that the organization had collected $23,000 spent $20,000 in promoting its campaign for La Follette. He declared contributions were voluntary, that the regular force at federal headquarters here had done much of the extra work entailed and that expenses had been further kept down by enclosing campaign circulars with letters sent out from headquarters to local unions.

Joseph R. Grundy, the Pennsylvania manufacturer who is head of the republican ways and means committee in counties of that state outside the Pittsburgh district, told the committee that collections by his committee had reached a total of more than $521,000, bringing the total republican fund raised in Pennsylvania according to figures previously given to $791,000.

Chairman Caraway, of the committee, drew Morrison into a long discussion of the action of the executive committee of the central trades and labor council of greater New York which last night reversed a previous endorsement of La Follette and came out for John W. Davis.

AT CHICAGO HEARING.
(By The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Republican campaign contributions to date have totaled approximately $3,700,000, William V. Hodges, the national treasurer testified today before the Chicago section of the Senate campaign fund committee.
Of this amount more than $750,000 has been sent back to the states, leaving nearly $3,000,000 for the presidential, senatorial and congressional campaigns.
Hodges was directed to send in accurate figures for collections to next Monday, Chairman Borah saying that the committee wanted the figures for all the national political parties to go to the country before the voters go to the polls.

Continuances were granted in most of the cases docketed for trial in the police court this morning. The only case disposed of was a charge of violating the traffic ordinance against O. P. Billing, the case being dismissed. Jessie Henshaw is being held as a fugitive from justice from Asheville, where he is charged with felonious assault. Frank Howard, colored, was bonded under the sum of $1,000 to appear in court Tuesday to answer a Laysman act charge, and his wife was bonded under the sum of $250 to face a similar charge. The arrest followed the discovery of half a gallon of whisky in the house of O. P. Billing and of another gallon beneath the house, which is situated on Newton street. A charge of violating the Laysman act against Haskins Williams was continued, because Haskins, arrested this morning while he was drunk, was not sober enough to stand trial.

LADY ASTOR'S COMMENT
(By The Associated Press.)
PLYMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 30.—Lady Astor, commenting on her victory yesterday in retaining her seat in the house of commons in the ranks of the Conservatives, said she attributed her success "to the fact that Great Britain prefers the Union Jack just as good Americans prefer the Stars and Stripes, and steady progress rather than revolution and socialism."

The American-born "commoner" received a decisive majority over Captain G. W. Brennan, the labor candidate.
When the correspondent, in a chat, referred to the house of lords, Lady Astor said: "I would rather be in the morgue than in the house of lords."

Smith Deals Blow to Roosevelt In Talk Last Night

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Governor Smith, candidate for re-election, will speak in Brooklyn tonight and his Republican opponent, Theodore Roosevelt, will make six speeches in Queens.

The demonstration given the governor in the Bronx last night was regarded by Democratic leaders as one of the greatest of the campaign. For more than a mile after entering the Borough, the governor and his party in automobiles, passed through streets lighted by red fire had lined by cheering throngs.

"Who expects the support of the Ku Klux Klan in this election?" The governor asked his audience. "Certainly not I."

"If the Republican machine politicians nominate Colonel Roosevelt for governor with any notion of his fitness how can they explain why the president of the United States failed to promote him to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Secretary Denby?"

Va. Hardware to Open Basement as Crockery Store

A striking improvement in the Virginia Hardware Company's plant was announced this morning at the termination of several weeks' work, during which the roomy basement hitherto used as storage space has been converted into an attractive department devoted to china, porcelain, crockery and cooking utensils, as well as bric-a-brac and gifts. The new department is to be opened about the middle of next week or as soon as a stairway has been built from the ground floor at the front of the store to the lower level. The basement has been refurnished with concrete covered with felt and linoleum. It is painted in bright colors and is effectively illuminated. A. D. Starling said this morning that most of the stock is imported from well-known foreign centres, including Japan, China, England and Czechoslovakia. Products from which country in attractive designs are now finding a market in this country. Some exceptionally handsome sets are on view. The Virginia Hardware Company virtually adds a new store to its already large plant. The plan is to keep open stock, that is china which can be replaced when pieces are broken out of stock kept here. Hitherto, it is said, sets of china are hard to replace with individual pieces but losses in the household service can be made good by the new method. The kitchen utensil department is also large.

We Ask Men

To Protect Their Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper
I speak for all women when I say that we want men to keep their hair. And above all, their hair.

The women do that. You would never forgive us if we did not. We beg you to follow our example.

My whole career on the stage has depended largely on my hair. So many times I have gone to France and secured the best hair help I could find. And I have kept up with every new discovery.

The result is my hair as you see it. It is Photo 1923 thick and lustrous, finer than 40 years ago. I have never had fall-out hair, or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Now countless women who use what I use are attaining like results.

I am offering to women the best I have found, and men are also welcome. My hair Youth combines the utmost that modern science knows. I am sure that no one knows anything for the hair which does what this combination does.

I apply it with an eye-dropper directly to the scalp. Applying tonic to the hair is ridiculous. The whole thing lies in the scalp, in the roots, and there my Hair Youth goes.

It combats the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair roots. It tones and stimulates the scalp. Hair thrives on such a soil as flowers thrive by like methods.

I believe that my Hair Youth now combines the greatest hair helps in existence. I have never seen anything else which brought comparable results.

Now I have placed it in every drug store, on every toilet counter. All who desire may obtain it. The name is Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth. It will amaze and delight you. I authorize every dealer to return the price to anyone who claims the slightest disappointment.

Write me for my Beauty Book and I'll send with it something else to please you. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.—adv

Marshall Admits Speaking For Pay

(New York Times)

Thomas Riley Marshall, who was vice president of the United States when Woodrow Wilson was President, replied yesterday to a suggestion that there might be found in his conduct as Vice President a precedent for the $250 fee which Calvin Coolidge as Vice President is accused of having taken from a patriotic organization at Bridgeport, Conn., for a memorial address delivered in 1923, in tribute to fallen American soldiers and sailors. The suggestion that Mr. Marshall might have set the precedent was published yesterday in a morning newspaper.

Mr. Marshall, who lives in Indiana, was in New York yesterday and added two things to the discussion of the speech, first that he did take money for making speeches while he was Vice President, second that he spent $1,500 of his own money in traveling to make Liberty Loan speeches and that he refused to take back from the government.

The charge that Mr. Coolidge had demanded and accepted the $250 fee, plus $100 for expenses was made in Jersey City on Saturday and has not been denied at the White House. When he was asked at Democratic headquarters in the Hotel Belmont for his comment, Mr. Marshall said:

Seeks To Avoid Controversy.
"I have no comment to make on the subject, and I refuse to be drawn into any controversy, either approving or disapproving what Mr. Coolidge has done. I am interested in defeating the Republican Party, but not in criticizing the President of the United States. I am not a candidate for office and any comparison between Mr. Coolidge's conduct and mine is wholly uncalled for."

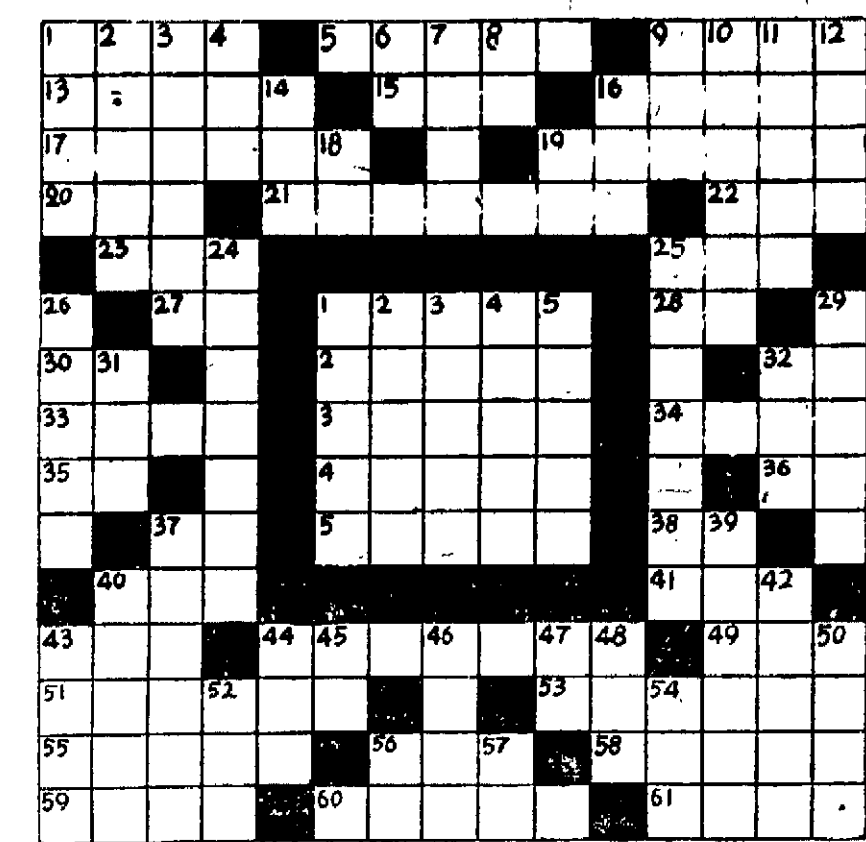

"No one familiar with the circumstances has any doubt that I went on the Chautauque lecture platform and received compensation for addresses while Vice President. I either had to do it, or resign. I have no apology to make to the American people for it. It was the only way I could live."

"I will say, however, that I spent $1,500 of my own money for expenses in making Liberty Loan speeches although the Treasury Department, having a fund for the purpose, offered to pay my expenses. I never accepted a single cent for it."

"I am one of those Democrats who believe in party principles and not in men, although it is a happy coincidence at this time that the Democrats have nominated a man who was my friend. He is my man and he is neither too fat nor too lean. So far as Coolidge is concerned I have nothing against him. It is not him that I am against but the system he represents—one that is distinctly inimical to the American people. I would say nothing against a President. I was fed up on the insulting Presidents when Mr. Wilson was President of the United States."

"I believe in party loyalty. More can be accomplished that way than any other. Political pedestals wear the crosses out between parties and lose the confidence and respect of the people and don't accomplish very much."

HEAR DAVIS GAINS IN NEW YORK STATE

The following special telegram from Washington to the New York Times will be read with interest:

Reports received from New York at Democratic National Headquarters here show that the Democratic vote in Ontario and Onondaga counties would be greatly increased through a strong drift to Davis, while a marked defection to La Follette had taken place in Republican ranks. Announcement was made today.

In Syracuse, the statement was made, Republicans, mostly of the working class, filled a hall of 3,000 capacity to hear La Follette and paid 50 cents for the privilege while another thousand was turned away. It was stated that the loss was somewhat offset by insurance.

The ice-plant, motor equipment, milk machine, milk-room and the big hay-shed were all saved, as was all the feed or provender of the dairy cattle.

When the fire was discovered, the employees of the plant were away on their rounds or other duties, hence the start which the devouring flames secured, thus precluding the hope of that early arrival at the scene noted a truck standing between the barn and a nearby building was burning and that one corner of the barn had just become ignited and was burning. This may or may not indicate the origin of the fire. The flames attracted people from all the country around and earnest and vigorous efforts were made with the means at hand to extinguish the flames. The best that could be done, however, was to save adjoining structure embraced in the plant group, and the achievement was regarded as a highly creditable record for the fire-fighters.

The bar itself was a fine and completely equipped and well constructed modern one. Its concrete floors remain and will be used as a base for the reconstruction of the barn on the same site. As soon as possible it is expected that the work of rebuilding will begin and be pressed with all celerity. Means for the available building and equipment will be utilized to continue the operation of the plant and temporary arrangements will be made to shelter the animals.

The distance of the dairy from the city limits and the lack of facilities for the use of the city fire apparatus, of course, precluded the possibility of the Danville Fire department rendering any assistance.

Tinsley Dairy's Big Barn Burned

The big dairy barn of Tinsley's dairy, situated near Mt. Hermon church in the Wilt vicinity, a few miles north or northward of this city, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin about 8 o'clock last night. By strenuous efforts of fire-fighters of the vicinity, the rest of this fine modern dairy plant and equipment was saved from the flames, including the herd of 100 or more fine milk cows. The loss was estimated last night by the owners at between $25,000 and $30,000. No estimate of the amount of insurance carried was available last night, but it was stated that the loss was somewhat offset by insurance.

The ice-plant, motor equipment, milk machine, milk-room and the big hay-shed were all saved, as was all the feed or provender of the dairy cattle.

trucks and motor-cars hauling heavy loads of tobacco from the farms to the market.

Headling the disadvantage to this market of such conditions, unless some remedial effort is undertaken, the Retail Merchants association is directing attention to the matter and urging all citizens and residents to avoid as far as practicable the cutting of the street by parked automobiles. On Main street with motor-vehicles parked almost constantly in a long row on each side of the thoroughfare, thus narrowing the passage-way shared with the trolley cars and rendered further difficult by fast-moving motor-cars, and with the narrow streets to northward and south to and from Main pre-empted in large part by motor traffic, the drags with their huge loads of tobacco engaged in moving the purchased leaf from warehouses to factories, traffic tanks are inevitable, with delays which hamper the warehouses in clearing their own floors in this unusual influx of tobacco to market, the situation is an urgent one demanding some immediate remedy.

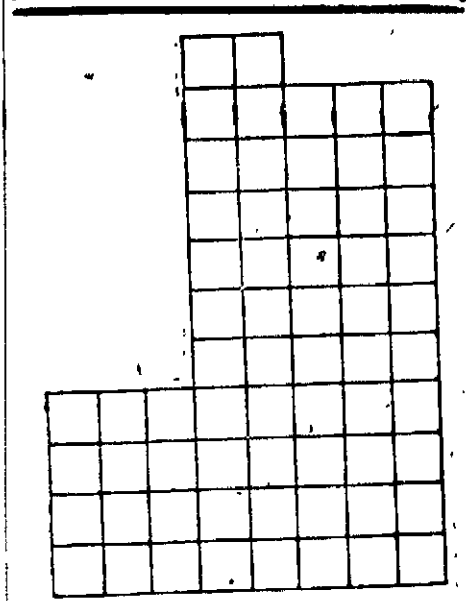

As the pre-Christmas shopping season nears existing conditions will grow from bad to worse, from dangerous to more dangerous, unless the citizens of Danville will co-operate and help to keep the streets clear for the movement of business and traffic.

Keep Street Open For Business Use

The city's traffic police are finding their work much complicated and rendered more difficult during this season of large tobacco sales by reason of the congestion of parked vehicles along the streets leading to the warehouse district, with hundreds of loaded tobacco-wagons and motor-trucks are directing their movement. Traffic jams which involved delays and cause serious congestion are almost constant recurring, and the traffic officers are hard-pressed to cope with this situation, involving serious hazards as well as hampering the movement of leaf tobacco from the sales-floors of the warehouses to the factories of the buyers and that of teams and

"HORSE SENSE" RULES

A life insurance company has offered seven "horse sense" rules for keeping fit. The rules are not given as cure alls but a plan for co-operation with nature in her ceaseless efforts in prolonging life and preserving health.

The seven "horse sense" rules are: Learn to play; don't eat too much; take proper exercise; don't work too hard, either mentally or physically; don't worry, fuss or lose your temper—the best tonic in the world is optimism and cheerfulness; seek some healthful amusement that diversifies the mind and exercises the muscles; once a year have your family doctor examine you for health, not for disease.

Ordinarily seven rules of conduct would not be so difficult in observance but here are given seven rules which regulate every act of every day of our lives. By the exertion of a little will power we would probably not find them much worse than a stern taskmaster in spite of the broad field they cover.

How many men and women past thirty know how to play? Are there any in this community who never overeat? Regular exercise is observed by only a small minority. Most people work too much or not enough. The most optimistic among us worry too much and lose our temper too often for the good of our health. More people are, to be sure, participating in the many diversions, fads and amusements offered them by modern civilization and yet too many do not. And as for the seventh rule, where are there men and women who think of the doctor when they are well?

POLITICAL CHAOS

For twelve years whatever chaos there has been in American politics has originated principally within the Republican party. That should be emphasized to those who have the audacity to say that the election of Coolidge is necessary to avoid chaos. In 1912 there was the spectacle of a Republican president and a former Republican president denouncing each other from the stump. The Old Guard Republicans looked upon the Roosevelt revolt as anarchy, and the Roosevelt compromise spoke of the Standard Republicans as "rebels." "Anarchists" and "two-fisted" were their epithets for the other. The party of security instead. Such was the Republican chaos in 1912 that the party was reduced to only eight electoral votes.

Who has seen anything like Republican unity of action since? The party's return to power by the election of 1920 showed its members about as much at variance as ever. One wing said that the election of Harding would mean the entrance of this country into the League of Nations and another said it would mean staying out. Such has been the resulting chaos that the Republican administration has been unable even to lead the United States into membership in the world court and has been forced to resort to "unofficial observing" as a foreign policy. The party "peculiarly fit to govern."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Nothing To Do But Nothing

Study the title of this talk. Read it over several times. Then remember it. There are times of stress when it will come in as a handy piece of wisdom.

I love action as well as any man on earth. I feel like doing something when in a great pinch—when flooded. But sometimes it's best just to do nothing. In other words, let the storm pass.

The experiences of life are extremely odd at times. They come as jolts to us. They arouse the fight in us. But it's worth while so many times to let the fight die down—the man in us given a chance to rise.

There are actually times when it is fine sportsmanship and sense to do absolutely nothing.

I have a little line under the glass of my desk which reads: "The dog barks but the caravan passes on." That's what I mean. If the caravan stopped to find what it was all about it would delay the great game and after all what's a dog's bark, anyway?

In most case sit takes vastly more courage to say nothing than to say something.

I have a friend whom I greatly admire. He rarely says anything until he has something to say—a strange procedure in this talkative world where there seems to be such an abundance of cheap advice afloat. But there is a stability of front to this friend of mine that inspires me. I see him quietly gaze at actions so many times and with his gray eyes he takes in situations and seemingly does nothing—at the time. But I am amazed at the things he gets done!

It isn't best to go out into the storm until the storm has passed and the sun come out.

Never forget that life is movement, movement, movement.

Learn to scent the times for doing nothing, for saying nothing.

I have noted that fighters take a great amount of punishment that they may deliver the punch at the right time that brings victory.

The strong man "swallows" a great deal—and waits.

(Copyright, 1924.)

So strangely fit that it cannot even govern itself!

With the triumph of the Republican party in the congressional election in 1918, immediately there broke upon the country another scandal—the Newberry election that was declared to have been bought. By the Newberry election, however, the Republicans were enabled to organize the senate and pack the foreign relations committee against the Treaty of Versailles. Who will dare to say that the Republican fight on the peace work of the American president contributed to world betterment? It made for chaos rather than stability.

Then what of the latest scandals under the Republican administration? Teapot Dome, the outrage in the veterans' bureau, and the effect of Daugherty in the Department of Justice? Who with any regard for either intelligence or justice will say that those scandals bred confidence in the government?

Does the spectacle of a Republican president and a Republican majority of congress pulling in opposite directions suggest a party working harmoniously? Does it not rather look like chaos? Who, on giving the situation serious thought, would like to see that condition continued for another four years?

The chaos of the bloc system in congress came under the Republican administration. When the Democrats were in full control, the Democratic majority of congress and the Democratic president worked together so perfectly that more great legislation was placed upon the statute books than had been put there by a number of preceding administrations combined. There was ability of leadership and party responsibility.

It is Davis or a continuation of the chaos of Republican factionalism.

SOUND AMERICANISM

John W. Davis preaches sound Americanism when he calls for the dissolution of all blocs. Blocs are but synonyms for the Old World class and caste systems. They have no place in a Democratic form of government and they are hostile to the traditions and spirit of America.

Free government to function satisfactorily must be administered in the interest of all the people. So soon as it is administered any other way the benefits of one group are derived only at the expense of another group.

That means loss of balance in government, tottering and a fall.

Mr. Davis is right in declaring that the bloc menace would not be threatening the nation's integrity today except that during the Republican administration the nation was ruled in the interest of a class—a special privileged class of Big Business that demanded and received the subsidy of the tariff and sought the ship subsidy and other favors.

When the former, for instance, is asked to sell his products in the open markets and buy his goods in a market closed by the tariff at the instance of certain manufacturers, paying for the privilege through contributions to the Republican campaign. It is the most natural thing in the world that the farmer should feel resentment and soon combine with his fellows to obtain a square deal out of the government he helps support.

The same is true with labor when capital seeks governmental favor at labor's expense. The Republican practice of government has been to sow these dragon teeth that now crop up to menace the symmetry of Lincoln's government, of by and for all the people.

Much safer, much more American, much more effective is the Democratic ideal as Mr. Davis phrases it, that the country "should be ruled not in the interest of industry alone, not in the interest of the farmer alone, but in the interest of all the people of the United States alike."

One thing is certain. The continuance of the Republican oligarchy in power means a continuance of blocs, an increase in class consciousness, a bitterness in class strife, a stronger determination to run the government for special privilege and heavy campaign contributors.

DEATH-HOUSE

Clarence Barrow, the lawyer, recently declared that not one of the 19 men under sentence of death at Sing Sing would be there if they could have afforded good attorneys. It isn't by any means a new idea. But the trouble is in the courts and laws rather than in the pocketbook of the accused. In England, all the lawyers in creating poor all the millions in money could not save from the gallows a murderer by premeditation.

PURPOSE

From evil comes good. The Leopold-Loeb case has started a reaction against capital punishment. Everything has a set and definite purpose—though often it is not apparent because hidden in the spiritual domain outside our three-dimensional material world.

OPIMUM

To curb the drug traffic, an international narcotic conference will be held in Switzerland in late November. Our country will send delegates. It is understood that they will say, in effect: "The only way to curb the drug traffic is to curb the growing of plants that produce narcotic substances."

Opium farming, for instance, is quite common in the Orient. To stop it is easier said than done.

CELLS

You never know what you're eating. In a cake of yeast are 22 times as many cells as there are people in the world. Nature's bus-scale markets are the imagination, as in astronomy, but her greatest wonders are in the microscopically small. There seems to be no limit to size, big or little.

Oh there's a pain in poverty and hurt in failure's sting. But I would rather have a deeper hurt than a shallow sting.

And I would rather have a life in humbleness than a life in pomp and pride.

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Jean Patou Calls
On the President

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Jean Patou, the best dressed man in Europe today, called on President Coolidge and presented him with an autographed toast written by Lafayette.

Monsieur Patou owes his distinction in Europe not only to his sartorial impeccability, but to the fact that he is one of the most noted designers of women's clothes in Paris, the world fashion center. He also is a sportsman of parts, being especially interested in automobile racing and aviation.

Is Well Dressed.

Clad in the latest Parisian version of what the well dressed man will wear, Patou offered a marked contrast in appearance to the usual caller at the executive offices.

The document he presented to the president was one of a collection of toasts to American cities, written by Lafayette on his return visit to the United States early in the nineteenth century. This particular toast was in honor of Boston.

Patou plans to present the rest of his valuable collection of Lafayette documents to persons and institutions in America whom he deems best able to appreciate them.

He wore a morning coat, of unfinished worsted, striking gray trousers with a zig-zag pattern, running through the weave of the rather rough material; solid gray waistcoat; semi-soft turnover collar with slightly flaring tips; figured, gray four-in-hand tie; fine soft silk shirt and black patent leather shoes with mauve suede tops and mother-of-pearl buttons.

On account of the exigencies of travel, Monsieur explained that he brought with him only sixty suits, 150 shirts and several hundred neckties, with other accessories of apparel in proportion.

A man in St. Louis bit a policeman on the ear, but all of us can't live in St. Louis.

"WICKEDEST TOWN" IS REFORMING

CROMWELL, Okla., Oct. 31.—Cromwell, paradise of the oil field huskies, is being cleaned.

State investigators call it America's wickedest town.

Old Bill Tighman, now 71 years old, who back in 1896 broke up the Doolin-Dalton gang, and has been raising Cain ever since in the oil fields, yields the scrubbing brush.

In this town of 300 persons, state agents claim they found wide-open gambling, 200 dope peddlers, many dance halls in which young girls danced for 15 cents a dance to the tune of wild jazz music and 50 blind pigs in which corn whiskey and "choc" beer were sold.

Hijackers, bootleggers and suddenly rich oil men played for high stakes danced over the tables in the chopboard huts.

The noise of pianos and moaning saxophones rose above the subdued roar of the oil derricks banking the mushroom town, while oil huskies scratched over the rough pine floors with the dancing girls.

One out of every three houses in town was a house of ill fame state investigators contend.

Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities and correction, and Claud Connally, state commissioner of labor, visited this town and made these charges.

But things have changed. And the oil huskies passion for dancing has brought about the transformation.

There were not enough girls to go around, for there were 50 men to every woman in Cromwell, so the dance hall men began importing dancers from the larger cities of the southwest. Dozens of girls were obtained from Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Kansas City, it is alleged.

Suspecting a white slave ring, state officials began their investigations.

LA FOLLETTE WORKERS FILE LIBEL SUITS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Five officers and workers connected with the La Follette campaign filed libel suits today for $25,000 damages each against the American Defense Society.

The suits were brought by Arthur Garfield Hays, state chairman of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, J. A. H. Hopkins, chairman of the committee of 48, George Soule, director of the labor bureau; McAlister Coleman and Eva A. Frank.

The plaintiffs charged the defendants with publishing false and defamatory statements in a pamphlet "La Follette, Socialists, Communists."

They charge these statements were designed to make it appear that the plaintiffs are linked with the communist movement and are advocating or believe in the overthrow of the government by force.

Dreams

each has its own MEANING

Women often dream they have lost their diamond rings. This leads them to be very cautious and if you were able to watch them closely you would see they keep their ring hand clenched, or always fingering the stone.

To dream of such a valuable stone, and that you have lost it, does not always mean an unfavorable omen. It often is a warning that you will profit by being cautious and watchful.

However, should the diamond, or any other valuable stone, appear to be cracked, it signifies difficulty in love affairs or marriage relations.

Interpretations.
You should profit from all dreams that you have in which your birthstone appears to you.

The appearance of a cameo brooch will cause tears to come to your eyes in death, and mourning.

If you should lose an earring during your dream, you are about to suffer a loss that can be averted by cautiousness.

Wealth, love, health and happiness will come to those who in their dreams behold the gorgeous red of the ruby.

Exhibit Rural School Products

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 30.—New plans for exhibiting the work being done by the eighty-seven departments of vocational agriculture in the rural high schools of Virginia have been tried out at several of the fairs of the State, according to an announcement given out tonight by the Board of Education through Carter W. Wormeley, State publicity chief.

A composite exhibit was made up to illustrate the accomplishments of at least one boy in vocational agriculture from each school represented instead of attempting to depict the general work in agriculture as offered in the several schools. The exhibit was shown at Roanoke, Lynchburg, Petersburg and Suffolk.

The Powhatan High School, for example, told the story of Irvin Martin as an agricultural pupil. Irvin's Holstein heifer has just completed her first lactation period, having produced more than 12,000 pounds of milk, which when manufactured into cheese at the local factory, was sold for $375. He has refused $150 for his pure-bred calf. A total of $325 actual value was produced during the year. The average Powhatan cow produces 1070 pounds of milk, worth $30 as cheese, and the average calf is worth $17.50—a total value of about $47.50. This comparison was made by the use of photographs of Irvin and of his cow and calf, two cheeses made at the cheese factory established by the agricultural instructor, and placards telling the complete story.

AUTO OF MISSING STAUNTON MAN FOUND

(By The Associated Press)
STAUNTON, Va., Oct. 30.—A car believed to be piloted by William Chason, cashier of the Hopewell silk mills, who has been missing since last Thursday, when he left his traveling bag at a hotel here, has been found, but no other clue as to his whereabouts has been suggested.

Police in Staunton, Hot Springs and other cities have all been investigating the case and an officer from Hopewell tonight is en route to Clifton Forge to take up the report of Magistrate W. Howard McClintic, of Hot Springs, who reported the automobile in question.

The car, said to answer the description and bear the same license tag as that driven by the Hopewell man, was found about four miles from Hot Springs, where it had been left last Saturday until Monday when the sheriff of the county took charge.

When to Change Earnings

CATHERINE CRANDELL

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—How often each day do you change your earnings?

Could you change them three times a day for a month and not repeat? Catherine Crandell can. This little dancer of the Greenwich Village Follies has a hobby for collecting earrings and has just acquired the pair that rounds out her collection to the hundred mark.

This aggregation includes pearl, jade, amber and diamond earrings as well as hoops of gold, silver and maroon and all sorts of antique and modern novelties.

"But my favorite pair," says she, "are long ones that touch the shoulder made of numerous flexible links of red gold."

"Every costume calls for its own earrings," she said.

"I am particular which I wear

as I would be about my hats or hosiery, perhaps more so, because they have so much more individuality for me. I may wear one pair out in the morning, come back home and change them for lunch and the afternoon and then don a third type in the evening.

They make a frame, a background for my face," she explains. "Other women have color in their faces. My skin is naturally pale and my eyes, hair and whole color scheme is in subdued, pastel tints. To put life and pep into it, I give myself a scarlet mouth and add the earrings."

"I would not recommend earrings for every woman," she went on. "Not for women with high or brilliant coloring for instance. They do not need them and it produces that look of over elaboration that kills distinction."

THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31.—This day holds much for some, and little for others. Loves of those born this day are just what they are made.

Loving, a good wife and mother, an exceptionally clever and energetic person, or one who is not true, even to himself.

Persons born this day are destined for happy lives filled with great things, unless they permit themselves to fall by refusing to admit certain faults and correcting them. To see clearly and to weigh faithfully problems of life is needed.

Charm and magnetism can be cultivated, but it must be guarded or the person will fall into mediocrity, a bore unable to keep pace with the good things of life.

HOLYOKE COLLEGE GIRLS DEFEAT COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The president and the vice-president of the Republican club at Holyoke College for Women, Mt. Holyoke, Mass., have

The officers named are Miss Dorothy A. Johnson, president, and Miss Helen F. Dragg, vice-president, who are quoted as having explained that though they were "good Republicans" supporting President Coolidge, they had changed their minds because of the espousal of the League of Nations by Davis.

FAVORITES FOR SATURDAY WERE WINNERS LAST YEAR

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Favorites in the more important eastern football games of Saturday were in the most cases winners in contests with the same opponents last year.

Tale, which meets Army in one of the feature games of the day, won a 31 to 10 victory over the cadets in the bowl last season after West Point had taken the first half. It was in the Army game that the great 1923 Eli team found itself and its battle this year is regarded as the gauge for an eleven which has had loose parts rattling in its game so far. Army, with Harry Wilson added, is stronger and said to have a different spirit than the cadet of last year.

Lafayette defeated Pennsylvania, 9 to 6 last season and has about that edge in the fore cast for Saturday. Neither team has been beaten this year, and stirring football is expected. The meeting of old rivals at Ithaca, where Cornell and Columbia clash, and at Annapolis, where Pennsylvania State meets the Navy, have been decided to an extent by several events. Columbia had reached its top form against Williams last week. Cornell has two weeks in retirement after its two defeats and no one knows what will come out of Ithaca.

Navy, with a 21 to 3 defeat at the hands of Penn State last season seemed destined to wait a year for revenge. Despite its two defeats by Georgia Tech and Syracuse, the Nittany Lion is one of the strong teams of the season. Navy has not only been beaten by Marquette, Princeton and West Virginia Wesleyan, but its squad was shattered this week by the loss of four stars who failed in their scholastic requirements.

Dartmouth and Brown at Hanover will continue the 16 to 14 argument which the green won last year. Dartmouth is favored to beat the Bruins. Syracuse defeated Pitt 3 to 0, last season, and should win by a bigger margin this year.

Princeton, Harvard, Rutgers and Lehigh will have comparatively easy opponents.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

THE WITCH OF 1924

BIG TEN TEAMS READY FOR CLASHES TOMORROW

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Nine Big Ten teams traveled or rested today for games tomorrow in which eight of the eleven will be seen in championship contests. The ninth—Ohio State—expects an easy time with the non-conference Woosters, and the ten—Wisconsin—will continue to prepare for Notre Dame.

It was a grimly determined band which left Iowa City, Iowa, to face the University of Illinois at Urbana tomorrow. Supporters hoped that in the outstanding eastern conference "Red" Grange, the Illinois "one-man-poin-a-minute" team, would not find the hole in the Hawkeye line left by Fleckenstein, out with a broken shoulder.

Michigan and Minnesota were ready to come to grips at Minneapolis. With the Wolverines was the traditional "little brown jug" possession of which has gone to the victor of the Wolverine-Gopher games since 1903. Coach Stagg, of Chicago, had a well developed passing game prepared for Purdue here tomorrow but whether he would use it or rely on straight football was not indicated. Purdue held a short practice after it arrived in Chicago, but was undecided whether Bahr and Bolan, cripples, would be in the lineup, although they took part in the workout.

The Indiana "jinx" officially interdicted by Northwestern's homecoming celebrants, the purple had its entertainment prepared for the Hoosiers. Indiana brought two teams to Evanston.

Aside from the conference contests, intersectional interest centered on final preparations of Notre Dame for Georgia Tech at Southland. Injuries from last week's game affected both teams. The Golden Tornado invaded the north with 32 players, hopeful of reversing the results of the last meeting of the schools.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR THE INDIAN ROOTERS

(By The Associated Press)

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 30.—Coach Tasker has been driving the Indians toward the fray with King College in Richmond Saturday. The opinion here is that William and Mary will enter the fray in the best of condition and with the confidence of winning.

Art Matsu, it is said, will be Saturday's field general and Cain will run as fullback. The line will likely start as usual, it is related. Fans expect a special train will be chartered to carry the team and several hundred followers to Richmond.

HENRY FORD ENDORSES COOLIDGE FOR PRESIDENT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A telegram from Henry Ford endorsing President Coolidge's election was made public tonight by the Republican National committee. Sent to Arthur Brisbane, editor-in-chief of the Hearst newspapers, in response to a request by the latter for a statement that the telegram was forwarded to the President by Mr. Brisbane and obtained at the White House by the National committee for publication. It follows:

"Arthur Brisbane, New York: 'In reply to your telegram, I support Calvin Coolidge and confidently expect his election for the following reasons: 'Our government has been freer of the influence of the money powers during Calvin Coolidge's brief administration than for a long time before.'"

"He understands the difference between American business and money power. American business is the means by which we earn our living, and supplies the need of the country. Agriculture, manufacture and transportation are its three pillars. It is constructive. The money power represents the exploiting, gambling and destructive counterfeits of the business."

"Two systems of business confront each other in this country—production for use as against production for profits only. Calvin Coolidge is on the side of productive service and prosperity."

"He is increasing the number of jobs in this country by drawing back into business the monies that have been drawn out by high taxes. The greatest prosperity will not arrest."

PRINCESS 'MAKES UP' WITH HER HUSBAND

(By C. F. BERTHELL)

PARIS, Oct. 29.—A new episode in the divorce suit of Princess Platenhelt occurred today when Andrew Reid, the American society man whom Prince Platenhelt challenged to a duel at Biarritz over the princess, suddenly left for Brussels, where he will work as a designer with the Fokker airplane people.

At the same time the princess announced that she is "reconciled" with her husband.

"I have given up my idea of divorce. My husband, Prince Platenhelt, and myself will leave for Cannes as soon as my mother reaches here next month."

"Following a visit which the prince paid to me the other day I have finally decided to give up all plans for a divorce."

We told one we would get her the moon. Not a night it wasn't so large so she thinks we are doing it.

Calvin Coolidge's drive against high taxes.

"He is sprung from the old American stock which went south and west and fixed our American course and he will hold the government steady to that course."

"He is short on promises and long on action. 'In our business we prefer the doors to the talkers. I want as good or better service for the nation as has been insisted upon in the Ford Motor Company.'"

"Why all this talk about throwing the election into congress? Who would want this except those who cannot hope to control the people but could easily control congress? Such a mistake would indicate that Americans are not intelligent enough to decide on election day and that is not the case. Americans are able to elect their own president and they are on guard against all efforts to cheat them out of that right."

"I believe in Calvin Coolidge regardless of party because he is an honest, able man, with a task that deserves the help of all forward-minded men regardless of party. I like him because he knows how to think, because he can see clearly and because the politicians do not like him."

"HENRY FORD."

Herb Pennock of the Yankees is easily the most consistent twister among the American Leagues long list of southpaws.

Because of England's refusal to accept the new American model it is unlikely that a change in golf balls will be made before 1926.

Kid Knaplan of Connecticut and Danny Kramer of Pennsylvania are the two foremost challengers for the featherweight title.

For one of the new times in his long career Stanley Coveleskie, star pitcher last season failed to get at least a 50-50 break in games won.

British golfers like to write "The Weather" on a golf ball, now in this country has also written one.

The veteran Hank Gowdy is loud in the praises of Baldwin, a New York recruit. Baldwin is a right hander.

Bobby Jones is considered the best in today's shot-maker in American golf. It is not in the world.

Coch Dohie of Cornell admits the loss of so great a player as Pfann has greatly handicapped his team.

Experts predict George Von Elm of Los Angeles will win the amateur golf championship within the next three years.

George Sisler says he hopes to last 50 points better the coming season than last. That would make him about normal.

The failure of Morrison rated the best curve ball pitcher in the National League, to deliver was an awful jolt to Pittsburgh. He won only 11 games.

Looks as if there was something wrong with eastern football. Illinois and Oklahoma both beat Nebraska, which in turn smothered Colgate, 35 to 7.

The goals from field specialist is beginning to make his presence felt in the Navy-Princeton game a drop kick by a substitute won for Princeton. Penn enjoyed the same margin over Columbia.

Who is the best backfield man at Notre Dame? Four football experts in commenting on the Army game differed. Stuhldreher, Layden, Crowley and Miller each received one vote.

The consensus at University of Syracuse is that there never was better football material at that institution. Which means the students expect Coach Meehan to put over a big winner.

The NUT CRACKER BY JOE WILLIAMS

This year the Big Three teams are rapidly becoming the big three steams.

By now Rockne ought to realize it takes no great amount of courage to start a scrub team against an eastern varsity.

We agree with the experts it would be a tragedy if Dempsey quit the ring. Who would there be to support Mr. Keatts?

Strategy in sports has made remarkable headway but as yet no one has succeeded in working the hidden ball trick in a push-ball match.

A bullfight that sings has been discovered in Louisiana. We think we need him on the radio last night punning. "My Daddy Don't Two-Time Me."

Red Grange should know you are never great until the boys begin looking for your weakness. No one ever has to look twice for a second-rater's weakness.

Headline says "Coach Doubts Practicability of Pass." Well, it took some guts a long time to believe the world was round.

The seasons developments have been such that when you say, "Sarazen wins," it is not necessary to add Sarazen the horse.

Mike McTigue has been barred from fighting in New York for a year. Will some one kindly tell us when Mike was ever found guilty of fighting anywhere?

Hoppe Proves Mastery at Three Cushions. Sounds like a petting party.

If you found the straw vote bewildering, consider the fact that 5954 players have been named to date for the All-America eleven.

TRIO OF REAL FIGHTERS

Hit em hard and low is a pet theory of Coach John McEwan of West Point.

One need only take a glance at the above action picture of three of his star athletes to know the pupils approve of their coach's theory.

In Ellinger, Garbisch and Farwick the Army has a trio of great fighters who will make things interesting for the opposition this fall. Captain Garbisch is an All-America center one of the most versatile linemen in the country. He is hopeful of scoring a victory over both Yale and the Navy this year. A number of former college stars have entered West Point this fall and are expected to add much strength to the Army.

Tricks and Games For Hallowe'en

THE GHOST FIRE

A Big d shpan is placed in the center of the floor of a dark room. The pan contains some four or five pounds of salt which has been fairly well saturated with wood alcohol. The party gathers around the pan chanting any sort of meaningless but impressive nonsense.

Each has been given a chestnut marked in some distinguishing way. A lighted match is thrown on the salt which breaks into an uncanny green blaze. The chestnuts then are thrown in, and the boy and girl whose chestnut cracks first will be the first bride or bridegroom. Of course the chestnuts must be eaten immediately after popping.

LOVE PROPHECIES

Any girl can find out at least the first letter of her future husband's name by peeling an apple carefully, so as to keep the paring in one unbroken ribbon then taking the paring by one end swinging it three times around the head and letting it drop. The paring sure will fall into the shape of the desired first initial. Two apples stuck on the eyes help one to see which of two lovers is the most desirable. The seeds are named after the two lovers and that which drops first from the lid indicates the sweetheart whose love is not enduring.

FORTUNE TELLING

Supply each guest at your party with a piece of bright red sealing wax and a cup or shallow bowl of water. The wax is melted and dropped through a key or a ring (a wedding ring if possible) into the water. It will instantly harden in branch-like formations, supposed to be "prophecies."

Any ingenious person can interpret the shapes and furnish much amusement for his listeners. Thus a bell-shaped drop indicates a wedding within a year, anything resembling a torch or lamp may be a forecast of "fame," etc. etc.

BOB FOR APPLES

The hands of the contestants must be tied behind them in bobbing for apples. In the heart of each apple a name may be placed on an initial letter cut in the skin. Each player will draw one apple with his teeth from the tub of water in which they are floating. The person whose name or initials are on the apple drawn out of the water will be the partner of the one who bobbed for it. The apples should be stemless. In some localities the winner of the greatest apples is awarded a prize.

GHOSTLY HAND

Stuff an old kid glove with rags or paper. Then set the outside of the glove with ice water. Invite your guests one by one into a darkened room to meet the "presiding spirit" of the evening. The person holding the glove contrives to have the guest take it in his or her hand.

It is even better for the host to put a wet glove on his own hand and grasp the hand of each person with it. The clammy, creepy feeling of being touched with a cold wet glove will get a rise out of "most anybody." It is one of the best of the Hallowe'en spirit tricks.

ORACLES

The "Delphic Oracle" will provide much amusement for a Hallowe'en party. Some member of the party should be stationed in the dark corner. Let him stand on a box to increase his height should him in a sheet and let him hold a jack o' lantern on his head.

The oracle can answer only "yes" or "no" to questions asked her but the vehemence with which she nods or shakes her head can be very expressive. The oracle should be surrounded by corn-cakes and autumn leaves and vines simply arranged. Pumpkins and vegetables of all sort can be used to hold candles.

HOW HALLOWEEN ORIGINATED

Memories of our ancestors who believed in goblins, banshees, ghosts and other evil spirits are called up by the modern celebration of Hallowe'en.

In the early days of the Christian church the first of November was set aside as All Saints Day, because it was impossible to observe a separate day for each saint.

The night before All Saints' Day was known as "Holly evening" when as Hallowe'en it was a fearful night during which the evil spirits were believed to burst from their bonds and haunt the world having a last fling prior to the sacred day.

There was however a brighter side to Hallowe'en. It marked the end of harvest and the beginning of new terms of arm tenancy and landlordship.

Renewing his contracts with his tenants or making arrangements with new ones, it was the Hallowe'en custom of landlords to bring forth the flowing bowl baskets of red apples and sacks of nuts for a great celebration.

CHURCHILL DOWNS RACE FOR TWO YEAR OLDS

(By The Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. Oct. 30.—A number of the country's finest two year olds will face the barrier at Churchill Downs Saturday in what probably will be their final and hardest test before they enter the ranks of the three year olds next January 1. This race, the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes for 2 year olds at 2 mile will be worth close to $30,000 to the winner.

The jockey club has added $10,000 while the entry fee for the large number of nominees will make up the difference.

The eligibles numbering 126 included Master Charlie, winner of the $50,000 Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga, Kentucky Cardinal, Fas Seal, Nicholas and Reputation.

The race is considered a trial for candidates for the 1925 Kentucky Derby. All colts will carry 122 pounds four pounds less than the Derby weight and the fillies 110 pounds.

EXPORT STOLEN AUTOS TO EUROPE FOR SALES

(Chicago Tribune Service)
 THE HAGUE, Oct. 29.—Exporting stolen American automobiles to Europe is the newest crook scheme for making big clean ups. At the request of the New York police, the Dutch police at Leyden, Holland, instituted a search resulting in an extensive list of stolen cars. The authorities of both countries believe the auto crooks have an international organization spreading over Europe and the United States and are now busy tracing its clues.

We don't know if a straw vote shows the way the wind blows, but we do know it makes some blow.

BAPTIST PLEDGE CASH FOR MISSIONS

(By The Associated Press)
 NORFOLK, Oct. 30.—Several thousand dollars was spontaneously pledged by delegates attending the Virginia Baptists' Women's Missionary Union conference here today at the close of an address by Mrs. W. Surface, of Norton, who urged her hearers to increase their original pledges in order to make sure that the goal of $75,000.00 for Baptist missions, set almost five years ago, will be reached on Jan. 1, the closing day of the campaign.
 Mrs. Surface's address was the principal event of the morning meeting which was mainly occupied with routine matters. The convention will adjourn tomorrow after election of officers and by mid-afternoon most of the 300 delegates except to be on the way to their homes.

FITTING MEMORIAL TO FRANK CHANCE

(By The Associated Press)
 CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Frank Chance, one of the greatest players and leaders of organized baseball, who died recently after a lingering illness on the Pacific coast, is to be honored by the erect on of a fitting memorial to his skill as a player and his genius as a leader of the old-time pennant winning Chicago Cubs. It was so decided today by the board of directors of the club who met in annual session. Chance, who became known as the "peerless leader" led the Cubs to many National League pennants and two world championships. At the time of his death "the peerless leader" was manager of the Chicago White Sox, the American League, but due to poor health never was able to assume charge of the club. In addition the directors approved the financial statement of the treasurer, voting confidence in the old officers who were re-elected. William Veech continues as president and treasurer, John O. Seys, as secretary, and William M. Walker, vice president. William Wrigley, Jr., continues as chairman of the executive committee. The signed contract of William Killefer as manager for 1925, to succeed himself, also was approved.

FITTING MEMORIAL TO FRANK CHANCE

(By The Associated Press)
 CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Frank Chance, one of the greatest players and leaders of organized baseball, who died recently after a lingering illness on the Pacific coast, is to be honored by the erect on of a fitting memorial to his skill as a player and his genius as a leader of the old-time pennant winning Chicago Cubs. It was so decided today by the board of directors of the club who met in annual session. Chance, who became known as the "peerless leader" led the Cubs to many National League pennants and two world championships. At the time of his death "the peerless leader" was manager of the Chicago White Sox, the American League, but due to poor health never was able to assume charge of the club. In addition the directors approved the financial statement of the treasurer, voting confidence in the old officers who were re-elected. William Veech continues as president and treasurer, John O. Seys, as secretary, and William M. Walker, vice president. William Wrigley, Jr., continues as chairman of the executive committee. The signed contract of William Killefer as manager for 1925, to succeed himself, also was approved.
